| 13.12 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ On December 12, It was confirmed that Ukrainians had inflicted damage to the buildups of Russians near Verbove, Zaporizhzhia oblast. More than 200 Russian servicemen were injured. In connection with the overflow of medical facilities and morgues in the city of Melitopol, the Russians are transporting corpses and evacuating wounded servicemen to the temporarily occupied Crimea. In order to replenish the current losses, Russians are forced to supplement the operational-tactical command level with retired officers, which were transferred to the reserve, and even retired officers. Now, they are sent to the areas of combat actions. |
| 14.12 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ The Russian Federation struck critical infrastructure facilities in Kyiv oblast with Iranian Shahed-136/131 UAVs. Also, it was possible to free a civilian - a US citizen, 35-year-old Suedi Murekezi. The Russians captured him in June in Kherson, allegedly "for participating in pro-Ukrainian rallies." In addition, the bodies of four fallen soldiers of Ukraine were returned to their homeland. |
| 15.12 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ According to the Institute for the Study of War (ISW), there is a possibility that Russia is preparing for another full-scale attack on Ukraine in January-February 2023 either along the Kharkiv-Luhansk border or in Donetsk oblast. The Russians are already transferring equipment from the rear areas of the Luhansk oblast to the borderline areas. ➤ Valerii Zaluzhnyi stated that the Russians are training about 200,000 new soldiers and may try to go to Kyiv again. He said: "Russian mobilization was effective. It is not true that these people will not fight. They will fight. The 'tsar' tells them to go to war, and they go to fight. They may not be as well-equipped, but they are still a problem for us. According to our estimates, they (Russians) have a reserve of 1.2-1.5 million people. The Russians are training about 200,000 new soldiers. I have no doubts that they will make another attempt to seize Kyiv." ➤ In addition, in an interview with The Economist, Zaluzhnyi noted that Ukraine will be able to retake the territories captured by Russia after February 24 if it has 300 tanks, 700 BMPs, and 500 Howitzers. The Armed Forces cannot conduct new large-scale operations with the currently available technical resources, although they are presently working out one of them. ➤ At the same time, there is a suspicion that Belarus is preparing for a full-scale war with Ukraine. Territorial defense of Belarus is being created in the regions bordering Ukraine, and there is also a ban on visiting these settlements. According to Oleksii Hromov, Deputy Chief of the General Staff of Ukraine, this may be a sign that preparations for an attack on Ukraine are underway in Belarus. |
| 16.12 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ Units of the Defense Forces of Ukraine repelled the attacks of the Russians in the areas of more than 20 settlements of Donetsk oblast. In total, Russia launched 98 rockets and fired more than 65 rockets from multiple rocket systems. This is already the 9th attack on the energy infrastructure of Ukraine since the beginning of the full-scale invasion. The Russians hit Ukraine with three waves of missiles. The first wave of missiles is trying to detect gaps in the Ukrainian Air Defense, the second is hitting it, while the third is hitting critical infrastructure objects. According to the military expert Mykhailo Zhyrokhov, now Russians are concentrating precisely on making a blackout in one specific region, firstly, Kyiv and Kyiv oblast, as well as Kharkiv and Poltava oblasts. ➤ Colonel-General Oleksandr Syrskyi, commander of the Ground Forces of the Armed Forces of Ukraine, told why the enemy should not be underestimated and the pace of arms supply to Ukraine should be maintained: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ The Russians change tactics, attacking with a smaller number, but coordinated units. ➤ The attacks cause huge personnel losses, but "the lives of soldiers have never been the highest priority for Russia." ➤ Mobilized Russian soldiers "from Russia's hinterlands" are arriving in large numbers in the east of Ukraine. ➤ Russia withdraws part of its troops from Kakhovka and Nova Kakhovka of Kherson oblast to Nyzhni Sirohozy. Among the residents of the right bank of Kherson oblast, military personnel is spreading information that Kakhovka will be abandoned by Russian troops by the end of this year. Therefore, locals loyal to the occupiers are offered to move to the temporarily occupied Ukrainian Crimea. |

Humanitarian crisis

12.12

- Due to ongoing hostilities in Bakhmut, Donetsk oblast, there has been no communication for a long time. Make-shift "stoves" on the open fire became a place for cooking and heating here.
- Ukraine needs $1 billion to restore its critical infrastructure quickly and survive the winter.
- Two ports of Greater Odesa have resumed operations after being de-energized because of the Russian attack on critical infrastructure facilities. "The Russian attack on energy infrastructure facilities has caused a complete outage of the critical infrastructure facilities. The Port of Odesa and Port Yuzhnyi were not able to perform cargo operations while the Port of Chornomorsk could do them only partially," said Oleksii Vostrikov, Head of the Ukrainian Sea Ports Authority. On Sunday, December 11, the power supply was gradually restored, and alternative power sources also used in the ports.
- As of the morning of December 12, there is still a power shortage in the power system, and bad weather complicates repair work. The situation is still difficult in Odesa oblast, and power restoration continues. Russian invaders have damaged all Ukrainian thermal power plants during massive attacks on the Ukrainian energy system.

13.12

- If Russia continues its massive missile attacks on Ukrainian infrastructure, the Ukrainian economy may shrink by up to 50%. Prime Minister Denys Shmyhal suggested this at the Forum on Economic Resilience and Reconstruction of Ukraine held in Paris.

14.12

- On December 14, restrictions in power supply slightly decreased, and almost all areas with probable power outages were supplied with power.
- About 8 million Ukrainians went abroad because of Russia's attack on Ukraine, the number makes up 20% of the country's population.
- At the Russian-seized Zaporizhzhia NPP, the invaders are connecting mobile diesel-powered boilers to prevent the freezing of critical systems of the plant.

15.12

- Brutal Russian attacks continue in Donbas oblast, and the invaders are actually destroying towns and villages so that the Ukrainian troops have no buildings that can be used for defense.
- In January-October of the current year, the negative balance of Ukraine's foreign trade in goods increased 2.6 times compared to the same period in 2021 – from $2.69 bln to $7.05 bln.
- In Zaporizhzhia oblast, the invaders destroyed 5,421 objects. There are about 2,000 private houses, about 300 high-rise buildings, 180 educational institutions, and more among them.
- The Parliament of Ukraine supported the import of Starlink, generators, and equipment for energy restoration in Ukraine without duty and VAT.
- Russia caused $136 billion damage to Ukraine's infrastructure. Energy infrastructure, industry, public and private enterprises incurred the largest number of losses. Compared to the report, since September, losses of industrial enterprises have increased by $3 billion and constitute $13 billion, while losses of energy infrastructure have increased to $6.8 billion.

15.12

- The owner of the Avangard agricultural holding Oleh Bakhmatiuk, who also owns the Chornobaivka Poultry Factory (Kherson oblast), the largest poultry farm in Ukraine and Europe, said that the farm had been looted and destroyed due to the actions of the invaders. The death of 4.4 million birds allows the law enforcement agencies to qualify the situation as an ecocide committed by the invaders. The owner estimates the loss at $330 million.
- According to the International Organization for Migration, only 7% of Ukrainian citizens are actively preparing to move to another place for the winter period as a result of problems with the energy supply caused by Russian missile strikes. The Chief of Mission for IOM Ukraine, Anh Nguyen, stressed that 40% of the population of Ukraine needs urgent humanitarian assistance. According to the organization's data, 43% of households in Ukraine have exhausted their savings, and 63% of respondents have said they limit their consumption of gas, electricity, and solid fuel.

16.12

- Power outages did not affect only 1% of businesses in Ukraine. It is proved by the results of a survey conducted by the European Business Association. The instability of electricity supply over the past two months has forced 66% of companies to adjust their work schedules, 40% had to reduce production or service provision, and 12% had to close some offices, retail outlets, or branches.
- In addition, to minimize the impact of blackouts:
 - 86% of businesses install generators or other uninterruptible power supplies;
 - 65% use alternative communication and Internet sources;
 - 25% transfer data to the cloud;
 - 22% conduct cybersecurity activities; and
 - 10% are forced to relocate their business or staff.
- Kyiv Underground stations worked as a shelter because of the morning attacks. Due to the damage to the power system and emergency power outages, the underground trains did not run until the end of the Friday afternoon. This caused a traffic collapse on the roads of the city.
- Ukrenerho declared an emergency, which means that, due to the damage to substations and power generating facilities, it is not technically possible to provide power to more than 50% of consumers (including critical infrastructure).
- Minister of Energy Herman Galushchenko said that the Russian attack caused damage to about 9 power generation facilities. Power plants and substations that transmit electricity were damaged, which led to restrictions on production at nuclear generation facilities.
- Deputy Chairman of the Security Council of the Russian Federation Dmitry Medvedev called acceptable, in his opinion, "legitimate military goals" in the war with Ukraine and said that this list includes civilian infrastructure (bridges, transport stations, roads, energy facilities, and plants).
